Can tobacco be used in a health type of way

- Tobacco may confer some small protection against some diseases and conditions (e.g. ulcerative colitis) but any small benefit is vastly outweighed by tobacco’s known carcinogenic and damaging effects. Any possible protection tobacco may confer against one disease will not prevent a tobacco user from developing another tobacco-caused disease. So don’t use tobacco products.